Hobbies

My interests revolve around engaging in various creative endeavors, which encompass a passion for arts and crafts as well as a deep fascination with the world of designing. I thoroughly enjoy immersing myself in artistic pursuits, experimenting with different materials, and bringing my imaginative ideas to life through skillful craftsmanship.

Snapshot

I was born in Cape Town, South Africa, where my early years transpired until 2007. At the tender age of ten, I embarked on an emigration journey to Israel alongside my family. This transformative experience cultivated within me the ability to adeptly navigate novel and unfamiliar settings. Confronting a medley of challenges, which included acclimating to a foreign language and adapting to uncharted surroundings, became an integral part of my growth.

A profound sense of purpose drives me to keep myself actively engaged. I hold a steadfast commitment to expending my utmost endeavors, striving for excellence, and yielding optimal outcomes, all while meticulously adhering to schedules. Concurrently, the act of extending a helping hand to others resonates deeply with me.

My ethos is characterized by a robust work ethic, underscored by traits such as responsibility, dedication, and thoroughness. My familiarity with thriving under pressure is a testament to my accustomed approach. Particularly, the dynamics of collaborating with individuals and functioning within a team context evoke a sense of genuine enthusiasm in me.

Work experience

In my most recent employment, I was associated with Annie Selby Brand Design, where I assumed diverse responsibilities encompassing graphic design, administrative tasks, customer service, and confidential assignments. This role was a wellspring of multifaceted skills and extensive experience across various domains.

Preceding this, I held the role of Shift Manager at Pull&Bear, a clothing store. This experience honed my ability to thrive under pressure and efficiently oversee my colleagues, fostering a positive work atmosphere while cultivating exceptional customer service proficiency.

Education

During my time as a student at Modiin Ironi A High School, I engaged in full matriculation studies. A significant part of my academic journey involved volunteer work at Hanoar haoved vehalomed. In this capacity, I assumed a leadership role, guiding a group of children through various extra-curricular activities. These activities were designed to foster teamwork and collaboration through engaging games and creative crafts. My aim was not only to establish a strong bond with the children but also to serve as a positive role model for them.

I enrolled at Tiltan College in Haifa, Israel, where I successfully earned a diploma in Game Art and Game Design. This experience was particularly gratifying for me due to my profound affection for both video games and artistic expression.

Military service

I held the position of Operations Sergeant within the logistics division at Pikud Haoref. In this role, I assumed responsibility for dispatching resources and providing human assistance during times of national calamities or emergencies.
